Your Estimated Financial Aid Offer

The Office of Student Financial Assistance will provide you with an estimated financial aid offer based on the initial data you provided on the 2023–24 Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA). In March, we will send an email to the address on your admission application with instructions on how to view your estimated financial aid offer.

Your estimated offer is for informational purposes only. You do not need to accept or decline these funds. Please review the offer and compare it against offers at other institutions.

Once you have paid your admissions deposit and completed all financial aid documents on your “To-Do List,” we will provide you with an official financial aid offer in June. This final offer may differ from the estimated offer due to verification of reported data, availability of funds, and/or any additional aid you may receive from other sources.

Planning and Affordability

Please review TCNJ’s current yearly cost of attendance budgets at tcnj.edu/cost-of-attendance and use this information for planning and affordability purposes. Traditionally, families could expect to see a 3% annual increase in costs.

Please note that the final costs for the forthcoming academic year, 2023–24, have not yet been determined and are dependent on the state budget, which is finalized in the summer. TCNJ will be able to share costs for the 2023–24 academic year in July.
